Kiln Creative!

Art Creative

Go back in time and imagine what this place looked like – draw a picture of a busy medieval pottery and village.

Remember to include some characters of all ages, animals and buildings. There would have been a church and a castle.

Writing Creative

The finger print you found is somebody's mark on history – what would yours be?

Draw or write your ideas for how you would like to be remembered in the future – either in something you leave behind you or something you do which will be remembered.

You could write this as a speech or even a letter to the future!

Poetry Creative

Watch the film again and come up with a poem or a description of what the kiln looks like and how it works.

You could write about the intense heat, the colours of the flames, the textures of the stones and the pottery or the smells and sounds associated with the kiln.

You could try writing this as a piece of description – remember to use adjectives – and then turn this into a poem.

Remember that poems don't have to rhyme!
